INTRODUCTION

The PFEW Pay and Morale Survey obtains federated rank members' views on their pay and conditions, as well as their attitudes to their work and the police service in general. The Pay and Morale survey is one of the largest annual surveys of police officers conducted within England and Wales and has been conducted every year since 2014.

This year, unlike previous years, the Pay and Morale survey has been combined with the Demand, Capacity, and Welfare survey. The PFEW Demand, Capacity and Welfare Survey is a biennial survey that was launched in 2016 in response to unprecedented budgetary cuts and a 14% fall in officer numbers over the previous seven years<sup>2</sup>. Combining these two surveys into one allows members' views to be collected and presented in a more streamlined manner.

This report provides a summary of responses to the PFEW Pay and Morale Survey received from respondents within South Yorkshire Police in 2022. Where appropriate, details of overall responses for the police service as a whole are also presented<sup>3</sup>.

RESPONSE RATE AND RESPONDENTS

456 responses were received from South Yorkshire Police, representing a response rate of around 16% (based on March 2022 Home Office figures of officer headcount<sup>4</sup>). The national response rate for the 2022 survey was approximately 25% of all federated rank officers in England and Wales. Last year's response rate for South Yorkshire Police was 18%. Please bear this in mind when making comparisons with last year's findings.

REPRESENTATIVENESS

To calculate whether the sample size is representative, it is necessary to take the population size into account, along with the margin of error and the confidence level. In essence, the margin of error measures the maximum amount by which the results from the sample are expected to differ from those of the actual population and is calculated using the sample size (the number of responses from federated rank officers in South Yorkshire Police), the population size (the total number of federated rank officers in South Yorkshire Police) and the confidence level.

<sup>3</sup> Data were weighted at a national level on the basis of respondents' force to ensure that each force were proportionally represented within the national sample; no weightings were applied at a force level. More information about weightings can be found in the 2022 Technical Annex R106/2022.

The smaller the margin of error, the more confident we can be that the results are representative of the overall sample. For example: If 60% of respondents answered 'Yes' to one of the survey questions and the margin of error is 5%, we can estimate that 55% - 65% of the whole population would answer the same if asked.

If the margin of error is less than 5%, it can be considered to be within the normal bounds of academic rigour. The margin of error for this report has been calculated, and at a 95% confidence level, this report has a margin of error of 4%.

Overall, in England and Wales, 998 survey respondents declined to state which force they belonged to. The responses from these officers have been included within the national data but are excluded from force-level analysis.

68% of responses from South Yorkshire Police were received from male officers and 32% of responses were from female officers. 77% of respondents were Constables, 18% were Sergeants, 4% were Inspectors and <1% were Chief Inspectors.

COST OF LIVING

96% of respondents from South Yorkshire Police said that during a four-week period they worked paid or unpaid overtime. Respondents from South Yorkshire Police worked on average (median)<sup>10</sup> 10 hours of paid overtime and five hours of unpaid overtime<sup>11</sup>. In England and Wales overall, 92% of respondents said that during a four-week period they worked paid or unpaid overtime amounting to an average of 10 hours of paid overtime and five hours of unpaid overtime.

Table 16: Paid and unpaid overtime	South Yorkshire Police	England and Wales
Average hours paid overtime (median)	10 hours	10 hours
Average hours unpaid overtime (median)	5 hours	5 hours

When asked what the most frequent and second most frequent reason for working overtime was, the most common responses in South Yorkshire Police were ‘there weren’t enough officers on shift in my team/unit’ (40%) and ‘there weren’t enough officers on shift in another team/unit’ (20%). In England and Wales overall, the most common responses were ‘there weren’t enough officers on shift in my team/unit’ (34%) and ‘I wanted to finish off my work’ (21%).

The table below shows the percentage of respondents reporting each of these as the main reason for working overtime.

Table 17: Reasons for working overtime	Proportion of respondents reporting the following as their most frequent reason for working overtime over the past 12 months...
	South Yorkshire Police	England and Wales
There weren't enough officers on shift in my team/unit	40%	34%

<sup>10</sup> “Average” can refer to one of three statistics: The mean is the numeric average calculated by adding all the data points together and dividing by the number of data point points. Examples a) 10+10+10+10+20+30 / 6 = 15 - the mean is 15. b) 10+20+30=60, then 60 / 4 =15. The mode is whatever data point is most often found within the data set Examples a) 10, 10, 10, 10, 20, 30 - the mode is 10. b) 10, 20, 30 – there is no mode.

The median is calculated by setting out the numbers in ascending order, and finding the number that separates the top half, from the bottom half Examples a) 10, 10, 10, 10, 20, 30, the median is 10. b) 10, 20, 30 the median is 20. The median is a more appropriate measure than the mean when there are extreme outliers. It is often used in salary or pay / conditions analysis for that reason.

<sup>11</sup> Please note: these findings relate only to respondents who said that they had worked overtime in the past 12 months.

SAFETY, VIOLENCE AND PHYSICAL INJURIES

VIOLENCE FROM CITIZENS

Verbal and physical violence was assessed by presenting respondents with examples of violence and asking them to indicate the frequency with which they had experienced each in the previous 12 months. This included; verbal insults, verbal threats, spitting assaults, unarmed physical attacks, and attacks with a deadly weapon from members of the public. Findings for South Yorkshire Police are presented in the Table below, which displays the percentage of those who experience these types of violence once a week or more. The findings are presented beside the figures for 2020 for comparison.

Table 18: Violence from citizens	Proportion of respondents reporting that they have experienced the following at least once a week over the previous 12 months...

Use of a deadly weapon (e.g., stick, bottle, axe, firearm)	2%	<1%

ACCESS TO EQUIPMENT (PROTECTION)

Respondents were asked to indicate how regularly they had access to various protective safety measures and equipment. The answer options ranged from 'never' to 'at all times' whilst on duty.

In comparison, most respondents from South Yorkshire Police have access to a baton (86%) and body armour, including stab vests (84%) 'at all times' whilst they are on duty. This is compared to 91% of respondents in England and Wales nationally who have access to a baton and 90% who have access to body armour, including stab vests, when they are on duty.

This is larger than the proportion reporting one or more injuries as a result of work-related violence in the national sample (18%) and on par with the proportion reported by South Yorkshire Police in 2020 (19%).

15% of South Yorkshire Police respondents reported that they had suffered one or more injuries that required medical attention as a result of work-related accidents in the last year. Nationally, 59% said they had taken one or more days of sickness, and 29% indicated at least one day of their sickness absence was attributable to stress, depression, or anxiety.

Presenteeism is the act of attending work while ill. Leaveism is a term to describe hidden sickness absence and work undertaken during rest periods. A core dimension of leaveism includes using allocated time off such as annual leave entitlements to take time off when they are in fact unwell. The proportion of respondents from South Yorkshire Police who reported experiencing presenteeism or using annual leave in this manner are presented in the table below.

Table 21: Absence and Presenteeism		Proportion of respondents reporting the following absence behaviour once or more over the previous 12 months...

ANXIETY, HAPPINESS, LIFE SATISFACTION AND WORTHWHILENESS

Respondents were asked to rate their overall life satisfaction, their anxiety levels, how happy they were, and how worthwhile they felt the things they do in their lives were. Each of these questions was answered on a scale of 0 to 10, where 0 represented 'not at all' and 10 equated to 'completely.' For example, in regard to anxiety, 0 would represent 'not at all anxious' and 10 equated to 'completely anxious.' Findings are presented below alongside comparator figures from the general population.

MENTAL HEALTH AND WELLBEING SUPPORT SERVICES

Often, mental health services can be grouped into reactive and proactive services. The primary aim of reactive services is to help those who are already experiencing difficulties with their mental health and wellbeing, while proactive mental health and wellbeing support services aim to help prevent difficulties with mental health and wellbeing from developing. Examples of reactive mental health services include counselling, helpline services and peer support groups, while proactive services might include mindfulness workshops, resilience training, mental health awareness programmes, and access to mental health apps.

When asked whether they were aware of mental health and wellbeing services that their force offers, 76% of respondents reported they were aware of reactive services and 45% reported they were aware of proactive services. At the national level, 75% were aware of reactive and 45% were aware of proactive mental health and wellbeing services offered by their respective force.
