

Biography

Julie Nesbit - Chairman, Constables' Central Committee

Julie joined South Yorkshire Police in 1979 and has spent the majority of her service working in uniform. Prior to joining the Constables' Central Committee she was a divisional domestic violence officer in Rotherham where she also played an active role on the Womens refuge committee and the Rotherham Victim Support Scheme.

Elected onto her Joint Branch Board in 1997, Julie was active in both the discipline and equality arena. She chaired both the Constables' Branch Board and the Womens regional conference.

Julie was elected onto the Constables' Central Committee as the reserve seat member in February 2003 where she has worked on the Legislation, Operational Policing, Professional Standards and Equality sub-committees. She was elected Chairman of the CCC in January 2007.

In her free time she enjoys keeping fit, going to the theatre, listening to classic music and reading fiction.
