

Police Federation Bravery Awards 2008 – celebrating the courage of police officers

Prime Minister Gordon Brown addresses all the 2008 nominees at a Downing Street reception.

Above: Constables Sam Withey, Stephen Porter and David Thompson from Wiltshire receive the South West regional award from the cast of Holby Blue. Right: Constable Philip Quirk from Merseyside receives the North West regional award from Cherie Booth.

Top left: Constable Seagrim from Gwent receives the Welsh regional award from Philip Glenister. Top right: Conservative leader David Cameron joins nominees and guests at the awards ceremony at the Dorchester Hotel. Centre: All of the 2008 nominees join the Prime Minister and Home Secretary for a reception at Downing Street. Bottom left: Constable Mick Booth from Nottinghamshire receives the Eastern regional award from Helen Worth and Bill Nighy. Bottom right: Jacqui Smith presents the overall winner award to West Mercia Constable Mathew Crisp and PC Ricky Gray's widow, Jennifer Lee-Gray.