THRINGS' LEGAL SERVICE FOR AVON AND SOMERSET POLICE FEDERATION

Family law is a necessary part of life. We all rely on this personal area of law to protect our relationships, finances and futures. If you need legal support through a difficult time or simply to put arrangements in place as a precaution, we can help you safeguard what is most important to you.

Whatever your legal query, the experts from Thrings can answer your questions and provide the very best advice. We offer a free initial consultation, either by telephone or in person at our office and at a time convenient to you.

If you choose to pursue your family matter with our help, we offer a discount on our hourly rates. Further details are set out on our flyer on the Federation website.

Tara Connor-McLaren and Zhenja Cann are your family law contacts at Thrings and they have extensive experience in representing officers and members of the Police Federation at all ranks and positions.

Tara is an Associate in our Bristol Family Team. She deals with divorce, financial proceedings, private children matters, cohabitation, and pre-nuptial and post-nuptial agreements. Tara focuses on working together with clients to obtain the right solutions and exploring all available options, including mediation, round table meetings, a collaborative approach and Court proceedings where necessary.

As part of our Family team, Zhenja specialises in guiding clients through complex divorce proceedings. She helps clients navigate difficult negotiations, including those for child arrangements and financial remedies. Her experience ranges from formulating and reviewing pre-nuptial and post-nuptial agreements to preparing cases for court proceedings. Zhenja brings extensive knowledge of succession, tax planning and property disputes to her role. This insight enables her to advise on the long-term financial implications of divorce proceedings. She also draws on her experience in property law to advise cohabitants on each party's interest in the shared home.
