What is Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit?

Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit is a payment for people who are ill or disabled as a result of an accident, disease or event that happened at work, or in connection with work.

We use accident to mean any incident or series of incidents at work which were not deliberate and which resulted in personal injury.

If you want to claim benefit for a disease, you will need to fill in form BI100PD Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit for a prescribed industrial disease. You can get it from your regional disablement benefit office. You can find a list of offices on pages 11 and 12 of these notes.

Reporting the accident to your employer

If you have an accident at work, tell your employer or someone else in authority at once, even if the accident does not seem serious at the time.

Most employers have an accident book. Record the details of the accident in the book as soon as you can. If there is no accident book, tell your employer about the accident

- by speaking to them, or
- by writing to them.

You must tell them:

- your name and address
- your job
- the cause and nature of your injury, and
- the date, time and place of the accident.

If you cannot report the accident yourself, ask someone else to do it for you.

What is an accident declaration?

When you ask us to look at the details of your accident and we decide it was an industrial accident, we call this an accident declaration. If we give you an accident declaration, it may help you in the future. For example, it may help you if you claim benefit because of your accident.

You can apply for an accident declaration at any time.

Am I entitled to Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit?

You may be entitled to the benefit if you are disabled because of an accident at work.

The accident must have happened because of your work, and it must usually have happened in Great Britain.

We will not pay Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit if you were self-employed when the accident happened.

The amount you get depends on how seriously you are disabled. We usually need you to go to a medical examination.

The doctor who examines you will tell us about how seriously you are disabled and how long you are expected to be disabled.

You can only get Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit if you became disabled because of work done for an employer on or after 5 July 1948.

When to claim

If you become disabled because of an accident, claim Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit straight away. But usually you will not be entitled to benefit for 90 days after the date of the accident. If you delay you may lose some benefit.

Signing the form for someone else

The claim form should only be signed by someone else if

- the person who is making the claim is not mentally able to act on their own behalf, and
- someone is willing to act on their behalf in all social security matters, including telling us about any change in their circumstances and collecting money for them.

Someone accepted by the Department to act on a person's behalf is known as the appointee.

A person who is physically disabled but mentally able will not normally need someone to act for them.

If someone applies to act on a person's behalf we will

- arrange a visit to
 - the person who is making the claim, and
 - the person who is applying to act on their behalf, and
- decide if the person needs someone to act on their behalf, and
- explain the responsibilities that the appointee would be taking on.

We will not pay any benefit until this process is complete.

If someone has power of attorney or legal authority to act on behalf of the person making the claim, then the person with power of attorney or legal authority must

- sign the claim form, and
- send us a copy of the legal authority with the claim form.

The copy of the legal authority must be certified and signed by a solicitor as a true copy.

About your accident declaration or claim for benefit

Applying for an accident declaration

To apply for a accident declaration, fill in Parts 1 to 7 only and sign the form at Part 7.

This is not a claim for benefit.

If you want to claim benefit for your accident you should do this straight away. You do not have to wait for us to give you an accident declaration.

If we give you an accident declaration and you then claim benefit, any benefit you may be entitled to will only be considered from the date of the new claim.

Claiming Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit

To claim Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit you will need to answer all questions on the form and sign the form at Part 12.

If you have already applied for an accident declaration for this accident, you only need to fill in Parts 1 to 4 and Parts 8 to 12.

Send this form back to us straight away. If you delay, you could lose money.

Any benefit you can get because of this claim can be paid more quickly if you answer all the questions on this form that apply to you and your partner, if you have one.

We use partner to mean

- a person you are married to or a person you live with as if you are married to them, or
- a civil partner or a person you live with as if you are civil partners.

If you cannot do this, get in touch with us straight away.

What happens after we get your accident declaration?

A decision maker will look at your application for an accident declaration and decide whether the law says your accident is an industrial accident.

To help the decision maker decide on your application, we may write to the employer that you have told us about in the form.

Decision makers are people who decide

- if the law says your accident is an industrial accident
- if the law says you are entitled to benefit or not
- how much benefit the law says you are entitled to.

We will write and tell you if your accident is an industrial accident and what to do if you disagree with the decision.

What happens after we get your claim for benefit

We will write to you and tell you that we have got your claim.

A decision maker will look at your claim. To help the decision maker decide on your claim, we may need to get more information. We may need to ask people about your claim. For example, we may write to any employer, doctor or hospital that you have told us about in this form.

If the decision maker decides that your accident was an industrial accident, we may ask you to go to a medical examination. We will write and tell you where and when to go for the examination. If you are not fit to travel or you are in hospital, we will ask the doctor to come to you.

Please tell us any date and times that you may not be able to go to a medical examination in the next 6 months. For example, holidays and hospital appointments.

If you can get Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit, we will write and tell you

- how much money you can get
- more about the benefit.

If you cannot get Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit, we will write and tell you the reason and what to do if you disagree.

Other money you may be able to get

Reduced Earnings Allowance (REA)

If you cannot do your usual job or other work with similar pay because of a disease caused by work and your illness or disability started before 1 October 1990, you may be able to claim Reduced Earnings Allowance.

Constant Attendance Allowance (CAA)

If you get Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit at the 100% rate and need daily care and attention, you may be able to get Constant Attendance Allowance. CAA is paid at four different rates. You will be considered for CAA automatically. You do not need to make a separate claim.

Exceptionally Severe Disablement Allowance (ESDA)

If you get one of the two higher rates of CAA and you need permanent and constant care and attention, you may also get Exceptionally Severe Disablement Allowance.

Analogous Industrial Injuries Scheme (AIIS)

If you are a trainee and you have an accident or get a disease during a work-based training programme you cannot get Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit. But, you may be able to get help under the Analogous Industrial Injuries Scheme. For more information contact:

We normally pay Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit directly into an account. This is the safest way to pay you and lets you choose how and when you get your money. You can use a bank, building society or other account provider. Most accounts allow you to make savings on some of your bills by paying them by Direct Debit. You may be able to use a cash machine, which will usually mean you can get your money at any time of the day or night. Most of these machines can be used for free, but some of them will charge you to take your money out. If so, you will be warned by a message on the screen. This will give you the opportunity to cancel your transaction without being charged. There are arrangements with some banks and building societies to let you collect cash from many of their accounts over the counter at post offices.

A – Payment direct into an account

How you will be paid

Your benefit will be paid into the account every 4 weeks, every 13 weeks or every week.

Finding out how much is paid into the account

We will tell you when the first payment will be made and how much it is for. Each payment, after the first one, should be for the same amount unless there is a change in your circumstances. We will tell you whenever we know there is going to be a change in the amount we pay into your account.

You can check your benefit payments on your account statements. Your statements will usually show your National Insurance (NI) number next to payments that are from us. If you think your payment is wrong, get in touch with the office that pays you.

Getting someone to collect your benefit

You may be able to get someone else to collect your benefit for you regularly if you wish. For help with this please contact your bank, building society or other account provider such as the Post Office® or a Credit Union.

If not enough money is paid into the account

If we do not pay enough money into the account, we will make another payment or add the money we owe you onto your next payment. We will contact you to tell you what we are going to do.

Sometimes we may pay too much money into your account and you may be overpaid

If this is because of the way the system works for payments directly into an account, we have the right to recover any money you are not entitled to. For example, you may give us information which means you are entitled to less money but we may not be able to change the amount already sent out. We will contact you first if we propose to recover any money.

What to do now

- Basic bank account

If you have had problems opening a current account, or if you are worried about being overdrawn, you could ask any bank or building society about opening a basic bank account. These are available from all major banks and offer free banking with no overdraft facility. You can use these accounts to pay money in, pay bills automatically and get cash out. Many basic bank accounts also allow you to get cash from post offices.

Alternatively, you can be paid into some Credit Union accounts or a Post Office® card account. These accounts may have restrictions on the services provided.
