

What is the Welfare Support Programme (WSP)?

The Police Federation of England and Wales' WSP offers our members access to professional support and advice on welfare issues. The WSP staff are fully trained in police discipline procedures and post incident procedures. They are certificated in mental health first aid and are here to listen to your concerns and help you to get the best support available that may assist you in dealing with your current situation.

Who can use this service?

Welfare support is available to all paying federation members who are: -

- Part of a death or serious injury (DSI) at work that results in a post incident investigation (PIP)
- Suspended from duty
- Officer has been served with Gross Misconduct papers
- Federation reps
- Following a consultation with the PFEW & WSP team & it is decided that an officer needs being placed on the programme

In addition, the WSP is also available for

- Immediate family members
- Partners
- Any dependants of an officer

who have been entered onto the programme by agreement of the federation & WSP team.

Why would an officer or Federation rep use this service?

Stress and anxiety are part of everyday life and we all develop personal systems for dealing with them. Most of our coping systems come from our training and experience. However, being suspended from work and away from colleagues, or living with an officer experiencing these pressures, presents a new set of challenges. Therefore, we learn on the 'hoof' and sometimes don't create the best systems for dealing with this new pressure.

How do I access the WSP?

In the first instance you should contact your local federation representative and seek support. If it is a medical crisis then please seek help from your GP or local NHS. Once you have been referred to the WSP they will make contact with you and ensure the appropriate support is provided and arrange ongoing assistance.

What else can be offered?

By engaging with the WSP and the local federation you may find that others have been or are going through a similar process. Peer support can help you and those close to you get through the tough times and reassure you that you are not alone.

Is it private and confidential?

Talking to someone about an issue is a key element in finding a solution. Our staff will listen to you without being judgemental and you can be safe in the knowledge that what you discuss with them will stay between you and them, unless it falls into the following categories where we cannot guarantee confidentiality: -

- You state/infer you are going to harm yourself or someone else
- You state or infer that you are going to or have done something to threaten National security
- You admit/infer your part in attempting, committing or about to commit a serious offence

Your employer should be informed of your situation as they have a legal responsibility to provide you with help and support. We would encourage you to engage with them as well as your local federation as they can offer alternative postings, shift patterns variations and internal occupational help facilities.
