EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations revoke and re-enact the Police (Performance) Regulations 2008 (S.I. 2008/2862 – “the 2008 Regulations”), with modifications to reflect changes made to policing governance made by the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011 (“the 2011 Act”).

Relevant provisions of the 2011 Act affecting the metropolitan police district came into force on 16th January 2012, and the Police (Performance and Conduct) (Amendment: Metropolitan Police) Regulations 2011 (S.I. 2011/3027 – “the 2011 Regulations”) amended the 2008 Regulations to reflect this. These Regulations revoke the 2011 Regulations, while replicating the changes that they made to the 2008 Regulations and making further changes to achieve the same results in relation to all police areas in England and Wales.

Section 1 of the 2011 Act abolishes police authorities outside London and replaces them with police and crime commissioners. These commissioners, together with the Mayor’s Office for Policing and Crime (which has replaced the Metropolitan Police Authority as the body responsible for maintaining the Metropolitan Police) and the Common Council (which retains its functions as the police authority for the City of London police area), are known collectively as local policing bodies (see section 97(2) of the 2011 Act, which amends Schedule 1 to the Interpretation Act 1978). Paragraph 4 of Schedule 2 to the 2011 Act allows chief constables to employ staff, referred to in the 2011 Act as the police force’s civilian staff.

These Regulations, and in particular regulation 3, reflect these changes.

Regulation 12 of these Regulations reflects amendments made by the 2011 Act to Schedule 3 to the Police Reform Act 2002. These amendments allow the Independent Police Complaints Commission (“the IPCC”) to recommend, and ultimately direct, the institution of procedures under these Regulations in a case where there has been an investigation of a complaint or conduct matter under that Schedule.

Regulation 13 of these Regulations ensures that the IPCC is notified of the outcome of procedures under those regulations in cases in which it has had a prior involvement.

Regulation 30 of these Regulations allows the IPCC, in a case where there has been an investigation under Schedule 3 to the Police Reform Act 2002 which suggests that there has been gross incompetence on the part of a police officer, to recommend or direct that procedures under the Performance Regulations commence at the third or final stage, without having to pass through the preceding two stages.

Regulation 38 to 40 of these Regulations allow the IPCC, complainants and other persons to attend a third stage meeting held under regulation 30 in which they have an interest, along the lines of the provisions applying to proceedings for misconduct.

Regulation 44(5) of these Regulations adds further provision about the process to be followed and matters to be taken into account in reaching a decision in a third stage meeting.

There are further minor differences between these Regulations and the 2008 Regulations to reflect the matters mentioned above.
